Introductory

Feeling that there are still some people in Honolulu who do not know of the manifold advantages of GAS in the home, and many who do not realize all of its uses and advantages, we have decided to give herein a series of "talks," each day taking up one more of the functions of the modern fuel—GAS.

For additional information, call at our office, or just phone 3424 and our representative will call upon you and present the facts.

NEW MANOA PARK OPENED; CONCERT GREAT SUCCESS

Hospitable Residents of Section Keep "Open House" for Many Friends

A community gathering of unusual interest and enjoyment brought together last night residents of Manoa valley and many scores of friends from all parts of the city. The occasion was the first concert of the Hawaiian band in Manoa park, and it was not only a municipal but a social function of a delightfully informal nature.

Residents of Manoa, particularly those living near the park, kept "open house" throughout the evening. The residences were gaily lighted and at each was a host or hostess waiting to receive friends. Many very informal little receptions were held, the guests going from house to house for a few moments of greeting, while during the evening the residents also "visited around."

Mayor Lane and the board of supervisors adjourned their deliberations early and attended the latter part of the concert. They were guests at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Young, where, throughout the evening, a large number of Manoa folks and visiting friends were entertained. To add to the celebrant character of the event, it was the day of the homecoming of Mr. Young from a business trip to the mainland. He arrived on the Wilhelmina yesterday and many friends took occasion last night to call and bid him "aloha."

More than 100 people called during the evening at the Young home. A big punchbowl and other refreshments evinced the hospitality dispensed to all comers until long after the band had played its farewell selections. The concert itself was one of the most enjoyable given by the band in years. It was a perfect moonlight night and the bandmen in their white uniforms, seated under a large tree upon the Manoa park grass, with the lights through the park and the lights from the many autos clustered around, made an exceedingly pretty picture.

The feature of the band program was the "Echo" composition, which is said to date back to the days of King Kalakaua. The band played the opening part and then from far away up the moonlit hillside there floated down a silvery echo. The main band again took up the melody and when it paused, from another direction came another sweet and lingering echo. A third echo sounded shortly after and then each was repeated as the band proceeded. The effect was extremely beautiful and Bandmaster Peter Kalani and his bandmen were heartily applauded.

Park Superintendent Vierra, who had worked hard for the success of the evening, was complimented for his efforts, as were the mayor and supervisors. Mayor Lane and Supervisors Logan, Arnold, Hollinger, Ahia, and Shingle called on Mr. and Mrs. Young and assured the Manoaites present that their section of the city will be given attention in the matter of public improvements.

The evening was such a pronounced success that the mayor says it certainly will be repeated and Manoa park will soon have another concert.

ALL LINES WILL CARRY CAPACITY LISTS TO COAST

Steamship Offices Report 698
Tourists Booked to Sail
After Carnival

More than 700 tourists now here will leave Honolulu after the Mid-Pacific Carnival closes. Inquiry at local steamship offices today developed the fact that both the Manoa, sailing for San Francisco February 29, and the Matsonia, leaving March 8, are already booked to capacity, with a waiting list; also that the Oceanic steamer Sonoma, sailing February 29, has 100 booked to date, and the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, sailing February 26, are also nearly filled right now.

The Manoa's capacity is 75 cabin passengers, and every cabin is sold out today. Castle & Cooke's shipping department said this morning. A capacity passenger list is already booked on the Matsonia, which can carry 230 cabin passengers. A waiting list of 72 for these two steamers is said to be on file at the local Matson agency. Manager J. H. Drew said both steamers will carry capacity lists out.

At the Oceanic agency, C. Brewer & Co., D. H. Gilmore of the passenger office said 100 passengers are booked for the Sonoma, due to leave here the afternoon of February 29, the same day as the Manoa. Cabled advices from Sydney received this afternoon by the shipping department of C. Brewer & Company, Ltd., Oceanic liner Sonoma, which left there yesterday, will have room for 125 or 130 passengers and can take 80 tons of cargo and 600 bunches of bananas on deck to the coast.

At the office of Fred L. Waldron, Ltd., local agents for the Great Northern Pacific Steamship Company, the number of local passengers booked for the Great Northern, leaving here at 11 o'clock Saturday night, February 26, the closing night of the Carnival, was given as 159 first-cabin, 38 second and 31 steerage. For the Northern Pacific, sailing at midnight the same night, for San Francisco via Hilo, there are 78 passengers booked to date. The Northern Pacific has only first-cabin accommodations.

Total passengers booked to date for Matson, Oceanic and Hill steamers after the Carnival closes, number 698, and it is more than likely that many more will go if they can secure cabin space.

QUNI ASKS FOR PROOF THAT HE INTENDED TO ABANDON YOUNGSTERS

Accused of boarding the Chinoy Maru with the intention of going to Japan with his second wife and leaving his first wife and two children without means of support, Joseph Quni maintained this morning in the police court that his intentions could not be proved and as he had not up to the time of his arrest failed to pay his wife part of his weekly salary, he was not guilty of any crime. Judge Monsarrat withheld decision until tomorrow.

To assist the city and county attorney's office in the prosecution Attorney Frank Andrade and C. P. Peterson appeared, and for the defense Lorrin Andrews and W. J. Sheldon. The case was fought on legal technicalities.

The defense contended that Quni had paid alimony as ordered by the circuit court, up to the day of sailing, and therefore had not failed to obey the court order, while the prosecution, putting aside the question of alimony, claimed Quni was trying to leave Oahu without providing for the support of his children and that he was charged with the support of the children by the statutes, and without relation to the order of any court.
